*The Extended Elementary Education Program (EEEP) is a prekindergarten program in all counties and Baltimore City.

A site is defined as one morning and one afternoon session. Exceptions: Baltimore City has 18 full-day prekindergarten sites. Caroline County has 3-full-day prekindergarten sites. Garrett County has 5 full-day prekindergarten sites.

NOTE: The EEEP is a state-funded program to help four-year-old children develop and maintain the basic skills required for successful school performance. The program provides developmentally appropriate experiences that address the cognitive, linguistic, social, emotional and physical needs of young children.

Education effort is calculated by dividing local education appropriation by local wealth and indexing to State average.

Local education appropriations reflect actual numbers reported to MSDE by the LEAs in their Annual Budget reports in accordance with Appendix B of the Financial Reporting Manual, Maryland Public Schools. The appropriations include monies received out of funds set aside for school purposes, but do not include funds received by the LEA from other sources, such as gifts and bequests or funds generated by the LEA through rental of LEA facilities, user fees, tuition, earnings from investments, loans, debt proceeds or sale of assets.

Local wealth is the amount used in the current expense formula (Section 5-202 of the Education Article) and includes county assessable base for fiscal year 2002 (July 1, 2001) and net taxable income for tax year 2000 (September 1, 2001).

Did You Know . . .

■ Maryland is one of the top four states in the nation with an exceptionally high percentage of public high schools * For the second straight year, Education Week, the nation's leading education newspaper, placed Maryland first among all states for its K-12 standards and system of assessing, reporting and holding schools responsible for improving achievement. Maryland earned an A (98).

■ Maryland students earned an average score of 3.23 on the Advanced Placement exams. This is above the national average and places the state sixth in the country overall.

■ Math scores for Maryland's Class of 2002 moved from fourth to third place among states that had at least 67% of students taking the exam.

■ The American Library Association and the H. W. Wilson Company recognized the Maryland State Department of Education for the "It's Never Too Early" outreach campaign, a statewide initiative promoting reading by connecting parents and caregivers of preschool children to local public library services.

■ The National Network of Partnership Schools at Johns Hopkins University honored Maryland for excellence in developing, maintaining, and improving its leadership and for helping school systems and schools develop programs on school, family, and community involvement.

■ In an April 3, 2002 editorial of The New York Times, the newspaper said, "Marylanders have created a visionary school plan—the Bridge to Excellence in Public Schools Act—leveling the playing field so that all the state's children have a chance at decent lives. New York and California could learn from Maryland's example."

■ Maryland earned a B+ in preparation of students for college in the report card for higher education, "Measuring Up 2002."

■ Maryland's Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports (PBIS) model, which is designed to improve a school's climate and behavioral culture, resulting in improved student learning and achievement, was recognized as an exemplary model at the national PBIS conference.

■ The Maryland State Department of Education and the Reginald F. Lewis Museum of African American History and Culture have forged a partnership aimed at eliminating the achievement gap and accelerating minority student achievement
